

Cyber Threat Modelling

Scenario

Imagine you are the security analyst responsible for an electronic book store where users can create accounts, browse books, purchase books, and manage their payment and delivery information. The site uses HTTPS for secure communication and has a database which stores user information (including log in details such as usernames and passwords as well addresses), transaction histories, and payment details.

Question

Assess the possible threats for this scenario using STRIDE